GENERAL SHOPPING

Grocery stores
Grocery stores sell all types of food—fresh, frozen, and canned—which are “staples,” and spices. “Staples” are everyday food items, such as bread, milk, and eggs. Some grocery stores sell toiletries such as shampoo, toothpaste, and paper products such as toilet paper, paper towels, facial tissues, paper plates, and paper cups. Please see the yellow pages of the phone book for the grocery store nearest to you.

Supermarkets
Supermarkets usually include a bakery, pharmacy, and photolab, and in some cases even sell gas. They offer a large variety of specialty foods. Because they stock larger varieties and quantities of foods, supermarket chains such as Rainbow and Cub are able to offer lower prices than other stores. Some full-service supermarkets, such as Lund’s or Byerly’s, offer special foods and will bag and carry your groceries for you, but the prices are frequently higher. These are the supermarkets closest to the Minneapolis and St. Paul campuses:

Clothing, pharmaceuticals, and housewares

Department stores
Department stores sell shoes, clothing, appliances, furniture, fabrics, dishes, pots and pans, linens, towels, and toys. You can find them downtown and at the suburban shopping malls. Most mall hours are 9:30 a.m. – 9:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, Saturday 10:00 a.m. – 8:00 p.m., and Sunday 11:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.

The major Twin Cities department stores include JC Penney’s, Kohl’s, Macy’s, Marshall Field’s, and Sears. See the Yellow Pages in your local phone book for locations and phone numbers.

Discount department stores, such as Target and Walmart, sell fair- to good-quality items for discount prices. You can find them near downtown and in the suburbs.

Shopping malls and centers
Shopping malls and centers contain many different stores under one roof to avoid the problem of taking children in and out of the cold weather. Traditionally, all of the stores in the malls or centers open onto an indoor plaza. Shopping malls are typically “American,” and Minnesota is the home of the giant Mall of America, completed in 1992. A shopping center or “strip mall” is usually smaller and does not have an indoor plaza.

Malls and centers close to the University include Rosedale and Har Mar Mall (both near Snelling Avenue and Highway 36, in the St. Paul campus vicinity), Eastgate Shopping Center (Central and University Avenues S.E., Minneapolis), and Midway Shopping Center (University and Snelling Avenue, St. Paul).

Below is a short list of stores that carry a wide variety of products, including baby and children’s items.

1. Store name- Target

   Target sells fair to good quality items for discount prices. Target offers clothing, household items (kitchen supplies, cleaning supplies, appliances, rugs, lamps, etc.), electronics, some furniture, sports equipment, toys, books, and CDs / DVDs.

Cutting costs

Buying used or second-hand clothing and furniture is very common in the United States – especially among students, who are trying to reduce their costs. Some of the better-known stores include Goodwill Stores, Ragstock, and Savers. Once Upon a Child offers low-cost, used clothing, baby items, and furniture. Also, students often post notices of second-hand items to buy or sell in newspaper classified ads, on bulletin boards, and listserves. The following is a list of thrift stores that have information on the Internet.

CHILDREN’S CLOTHING SIZES

We offer these general sizing rules to provide you with general measurements to make your shopping more convenient. If you are having difficulty choosing a size, please ask the salesperson for help.

Helpful Hints:

- For babies and toddlers, weight is the best size determinant
- For children, height is the best determinant
- Check for special sizing suggestions within each product description
